Studio Armin's Baby Bull is a nautically inspired chair that was built to withstand the outdoors while being versatile enough for indoor living.

With a stainless-steel frame and wax canvas cushion, the Baby Bull is left to form and function while the concave eyes and fiberglass armrest carve out the details that emerge from the torso. My inspiration behind the Baby Bull and its fellow collection is derived from the horns of a bull. You can see this in the cylindrical backrest that wraps around the frame and the subtle yet durable materiality of the piece.
